Testimonials: Online (Virtual) Debt Collections & Revenue Management Procedures Training Program

National Insurance Corporation (NIC)
Castries, Saint Lucia

The most valuable parts of this training program were the topics of effective debt collections letter-writing skills, and debt collections strategies and procedures used in Call Centre Management. It provided me with information necessary for effective debt collections and revenue management and practical solutions to improve our existing collections solutions

While the history of the social security systems was a good introduction to the course, the information was not new to me, but it served as a good refresher for me.

This course was thorough, relevant management skills, practical, and realistic. It provided me with a useful reference that will enhance my time and efficiency, introduced innovative ideas for automation, modern tools ,and strategies that will be impactful when interacting with our debtors.

The benefits of this program has given me new tools and methodologies, on how I can restructure my department, organize some functions, and enhance job fulfillment for the entire collections staff.

This training program was timely and mentally stimulating to me. The instructor challenged the participants to think differently to achieve positive outcomes. He was very engaging in the virtual setting. He was able to keep participants totally engaged. This is why I would definitely attend other training programs presented by this instructor because of his knowledge about debt collections and revenue management operations.

The information he presented will enhance the skills of each participant.

Paula Bleasdille, Chief Accountant

I liked the steps that must be utilized in making actual telephone collections calls; this was most valuable to me. I will be using it when I am interacting with the debtors, so as to promote efficiency and productivity, as well as to achieve my goals and targets.

The information provided was beneficial to me and it will enhance my capabilities to increase my productivity, which will be helpful to improve my overall job performance and productivity metrics.

This program will improve my effectiveness and also equip me with new and additional knowledge which will be used to attain better results. I plan to share my knowledge with my co-workers in order to foster greater team building and improve their efficiencies as well.

I appreciated that the trainer used practical and real-life experiences and examples so that each participant could better understand discussions. He stressed the need for continuous improvement, especially in the areas of productivity, efficiency, and technological advancement.

Kediana Charlery, Collections Officer 1

The part of this training program that was of most significance to me was understanding the role of a professional debt collector, and why that role is important in my organization. Understanding specific strategies and procedures can be used to reduce delinquent and problematic accounts. Also, the importance of getting positive results against goals and targets. This will help our supervisors see whether targets and benchmarks are being met.

All the information I received was of value to me, and especially useful if I wish to elevate myself professionally in the debt collections field.

This training program was especially useful because it will improve my collections and customer service effectiveness in my job responsibilities. It can also contribute to enhancing my customer service and call center management engagement and will increase my productivity levels, which will in turn, contribute to the overall success of the organization.

This was a very comprehensive training program. The instructor has a lot of knowledge in debt collections and revenue management, and ensured all participants understood the topics being discussed. He would reinforce the learning by having participants explain the material that was being discussed.

I would love to attend other training programs, because I have learnt a lot of information which will be helpful in my job functions.

Rena Mathurin, Collections Officer 1

The most valuable part of this debt collections and revenue management training program was learning how to balance effective recovery rates with ethical and compliant collections practices and procedures. This type of training provided me with valuable insights! It will help to strengthen my skills, especially when dealing with difficult debtors. It will also help to strengthen my negotiation skills when dealing with difficult customers/debtors and increase my productivity and efficiency metrics.

This training program was well conducted, and the presenter was truly knowledgeable, and, in my estimation, there is nothing I would change in this training program. It was informative and relevant to my job duties and responsibilities. It provided practical and realistic insights that can be applied immediately in my day-to-day debt collections activities.

The instructor was knowledgeable and experienced. In my estimation, well prepared, and explained debt collections and revenue management concepts in an easily understood manner. I would attend other training programs being offered, and with this same training instructor as his training style was clear, engaging, practical and innovative.

Albertha Henry, Collections Officer 3

I liked the way the instructor sensitized us in our role as professional collectors. We play a significant part in reducing delinquency and ensure the sustainability of the National Insurance Corporation. The sample letters will be used effectively to give us more options to effectively do our jobs. The program was very insightful and relatable.

After attending this training program, I left with information to function more effectively and productively in my job responsibilities as it relates to setting targets and goals, as well as motivating my team to attain greater results and productivity metrics.

This training program is useful and can assist collectors to enhance job performance, whether it's at this organization or within any other debt collections and revenue management positions or other institutions.

The instructor engaged all participants frequently, and throughout the day to ensure that he clarified or summarized every area of concern. He shared his firsthand experiences with us as an added bonus. He is well experienced and has a remarkably diverse grasp of the subject matter.

Mable Leopold, Supervisor, Collections

The entire training program was quite relevant and informative. It was a very comprehensive program, and I cannot pinpoint any areas that were irrelevant to the training.

The training program was very interactive and detailed. Areas that were of importance was strongly emphasized. Every area covered by the instructor is relevant to my job functions and responsibilities.

I would highly recommend this training program to any organization that has a mandate to pursue debt collections and revenue management, with assurance and vigilance.

I certainly would love to attend other training programs presented by this instructor. His delivery was on point. The importance of this training program was strongly emphasized.

Vinton R. Simon, Officer 3

I make many calls during the course of my workday, and the topic on telephone collections calls was of utmost benefit to me. The new steps I learnt will make me more productive and efficient when making my calls, so every part of this training program was valuable to me.

The program provided me with comprehensive tools to carry out functions within my job responsibilities/description. It has also equipped me with the knowledge and skills to carry into the field, and face-to-face. The strategies I gained will also allow me to have a tailored approach when interacting with my clientele.
